THE ALLEGED EXISTENCE OF SLAVERY IN HONGKONG.

In continuation of the despatches on this subject we give the following:to the Right Hon, the EARL OF KIMBURLEY.

Government House, Hongkong,

15th Jane, 1891. My Lard .- In reply to your Lordship's des patch of 31st December, 1880, asking for partionlars as to the two Contagious Diseases Ordinanges of 1857 and 1867 having caused an increase We of brothe slavery, I submit herewith to your Lordship the following considerations in support of the statement I made on this subject in my despatch of 13th November, 1880, to which your Lordship refers. 2 .- That under the Ordinance No. 12 of 185 he orils of brothel slavery were intensified, and assumed day after day a graver aspect, would seem to have been the opinion of the Registrar-General, Mr. Cecil C. Smith, who, ten years after Mr. Labouchere gave the instructions which your Lordship quotes, wrote on 2nd November, 1866, as follows:-"There is enother matter connected with the the present juncture in exacting satisfaction brothels, licensed and unlicensed, in Hongkong, from the Corean Government for the outrage | which almost daily assumes a graver aspect. refer to what is no loss than the trafficking in human flesh between the brothel keepers and the vagabonds of the Colony. Women are bought and sold in nearly every brothel in the place ness with foreign Powers. We await with They are induced by specious pretexts to come much interest further intelligence from to Hangkong, and then, after they are admitted the "Forbidden Land," which has now into the brothels, such a system of espionage in kept over them, and so frightened do they get as to prevent any application to the police." So far for the Ordinance of 1857.

3.—As regards Ordinance No. 10 of 1867, there s the testimony of another Registrar-General Mr. Lister, who stated before the Commission is 1877 that he does "not think the new Ordinance had any real effect, or could have had any effect, mon the sale of women." Such ist indeed the

4.—But there is yet the important question whether or not the condition of a woman-once sold into virtual slavery to the keeper of a dicensed brothel was in any way ameliorated by the Ordinance of 1867. As regards this point am disposed to say that the Ordinance No. 12 of valley of the Yangtaze. The ten crop seems to 1867, by giving larger powers to the Registrarbe very abundant, and we hear the silk crop is General, and thereby indirectly to the Inspectors, with whom the practical working of the Ordinance lies, made the condition of the unfortunate women sold to the keeper of a licensed brothel worse than it was before. For as the experienced police magistrate, Mr. May, stated in 1877 in his evidence before the Commission. "the Ting will leave the same day for Tientsin with ! unsed brother keepers look upon the Iuspectors as their protectors." There can be no doubt of the truth of what Mr. Pang Ui-Shang told the ame Commission, that "the fact of licensing these brothels gives the keepers a sort of official authority," and that "they boast of the protection of the inspectors." The natural consequence of this is that the unfortunate women, who, on being conveyed into the Colony, bring with them an extraordinary dread of all foreigners. bave no senrage to seek their freedom; and, as Inspector Luc stated before the Commission, "if

Mr. A. Lister, who had been entrusted with the working of this Ordinance, stated before the Commission that " new women would almost have preferred going to the whippingpost," and that " the mere threat of sending them to examination was generally sufficient keep them in order." Thus also the keepers, by threatening to place their houses under medical

Mr. O'Malley's remarks appear to me to be well considered and convincing, and have now the honour to transmit to you in

2.—In your despatch of the 23rd January 1880 you forwarded with other documents a copy of a statement made by Chief Justice Sir John Smale from the Bouch on the 6th October, 1879 in the course of which he observes that on the Tith of January 1815 a proplamation was issued in these words:---Whereas the Acts of the British Parliamen for the abolition of the slave trade, and for the abolition of slavery extend by their own proper force and authority to Hongkong, this is to apprise all persons of the same, and to give notice that these Acts will be enforced by all Her Majesty's officers, civil and military, within a summary of bis views, divided under eight heads; in the fifth of these he cites the abovementioned proclamation as declaring that the English laws against slavery would be enforced by Her Majesty's officers, and in other places he asserts that those laws had not been enforced. with the result that there are now a great number, 10,000 or even 20,000 slaves, in Hongkong 3.—Desiring to be more precisely informed the circumstances in which Sir John Smale's statement, involving so grave a charge against Her Majesty's officers responsible for the ad ministration and execution of the law in the colony was made. I instructed you in my despatch of the 20th of May, 1880, to request him to be good shough to specify the Acts of Parliament which he considered have not been enforced in Hongkong, and the particular sections to which he alladed. Your desputch of the 4th August, 1881, transmits Sir John Smale's repl to my question in a letter dated the 20th August, 1880, in which he says:-"I am not aware that on any of the three occasions on which have spoken on the subject I have said any. thing to give rise to the question baye on the three eccasions above referred to cite

Yet it would be necessary that this result should be clearly established before it can be admitted that the transaction oreates slavery or amounts to slavedealing. The fact appears to be that Sir John Smale, in his praiseworthy aversion to anything savouring of slavery, has been misled by the terms "purchase" and "sale," and with the best whother those terms are correctly applied to the

The socalled sales are nullities; they do not either give the supposed purchaser any rights over the liberty of the child, or deprive the parent of his shild by the proper legal process; or deprive the children of the right to appeal to the law for protection against ill-treatment, in whatever form such ill-treatment may be found; and it is, I apprehend, open to any one who can establish a primd facie case to show that a child is improperly detained, to ane out a writ of habeas corpus requiring the child to be brought before a proper-

Another source would be to make all such transactions nisdemeanours unless they confirmed to certain specified conditions prescribed so as to secura, as far as possible, that they should be for the welfare of the child. A third course would be to require all children taken into adoption to be registered and thereafter subject to visitation, such as is voluntarily undertaken in the case of what has been called the "gutter-children" of this city who have been conveyed by charitable agencies the dominion of Canada and there apprentised. 19.—But I am checked in the consideration of these and other propositions by my uncertainty as to the facts of the system of child greatest diversity by those who approve and share for oush.
